

“IF” : more than 400 e-learning courses for its 6,800 employees

IF has offices throughout Norway, Sweden, Denmark, Finland, Estonia, Latvia and Lithuania. E-learning is an important method of transferring knowledge between the different units, and supports the skill management scheme IF has implemented.

The company runs a large number of courses and training programs, without having a dedicated department specialising in e-learning. All the different courses are put together by subject matter experts, with the assistance of a few employees who knows the software. IF uses e-learning to distribute

“We have found a very effective solution that has already reduced training development time and costs by as much as 50%.”

Nina Sagelvmo,

Development coordinator for IF Privates Competence & Development department knowledge quickly, directly from the people who have the information to the people who need it and needs to keep the bureaucratic procedures to a minimum.

The challenge was to find a solution that would not only be quick to master but one that would also make it easy for those who have knowledge to share it. Therefore, IF chose Mohive's e-learning publishing system. The system has a strong focus on workflow with integrated quality assurance to guarantee that only valid content can easily be changed and quickly translated in to various languages. ■

GOALS

- › Increase the knowledge level of the organisation
- › Capitalising on internal subject matter experts

SOLUTION

- › Mohive eLPS

BENEFITS

- › Important costs savings
- › Increased learner satisfaction